

This year in the USA, $3.08 trillion in US Treasury notes and bonds-about 12% of the total-will mature.

At current rates of ~4.46%, rolling this debt would raise the interest expense 54% over the current average coupon of 2.88%.

That is an extra $48.7 billion in annual interest expense.

